This is in acknowledgement of your letter of May 7, 1956.

Your report of your unidentified sighting has been forwarded to The Air Technical Intelligence Center, Dayton, Ohio, for investigation and evaluation.

As you know, any aerial phenomena, so long as it remains unidentified, is treated as a potential threat to the United States.

Your initiative and prompt action is greatly appreciated.

Sincerely,

Gentlemen:

I would like to report an unusual aerial sighting. Saturday evening, April 28th, at approximately 8:30 p.m., my wife and I were sitting on our front porch steps in semi-darkness when we were attracted by what appeared to be a bright star getting brighter. For more than ten seconds its light increased to a white brilliance, then it began to dim to a medium dull red.

This observance was casual until the light started to move from east to west. A transport aircraft bound for New York was passing in the same line of sight at a few thousand feet altitude and was noted to be moving at a little more than double the speed of the light. The brightness of the light diminished after about 30 seconds of travel and it became dull red. Then its movement accelerated to what must have been enormous speed, considering the estimated high altitude. Then its light became faint as it wobbled and disappeared. The elapsed time from first noting the growing brightness of the light did not amount to more than three minutes.

Lacking any equipment to record this phenomenon, I immediately drew a map of the sky as it was at the time of the occurrence. The enclosed map also details the movement of the light and other estimates which may help locate the area of the odd sighting.

As to credibility, I can offer the fact that aviation was my business throughout the late war. I was a technical representative for Lockheed Overseas Corp. and Curtiss-Wright Corp. in England and Europe. Also, I was a scientific consultant to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Technical Industrial Intelligence Committee, that evaluated German aviation development after the end of the European war in 1945. I have a Certificate of Appreciation from the Army for this.

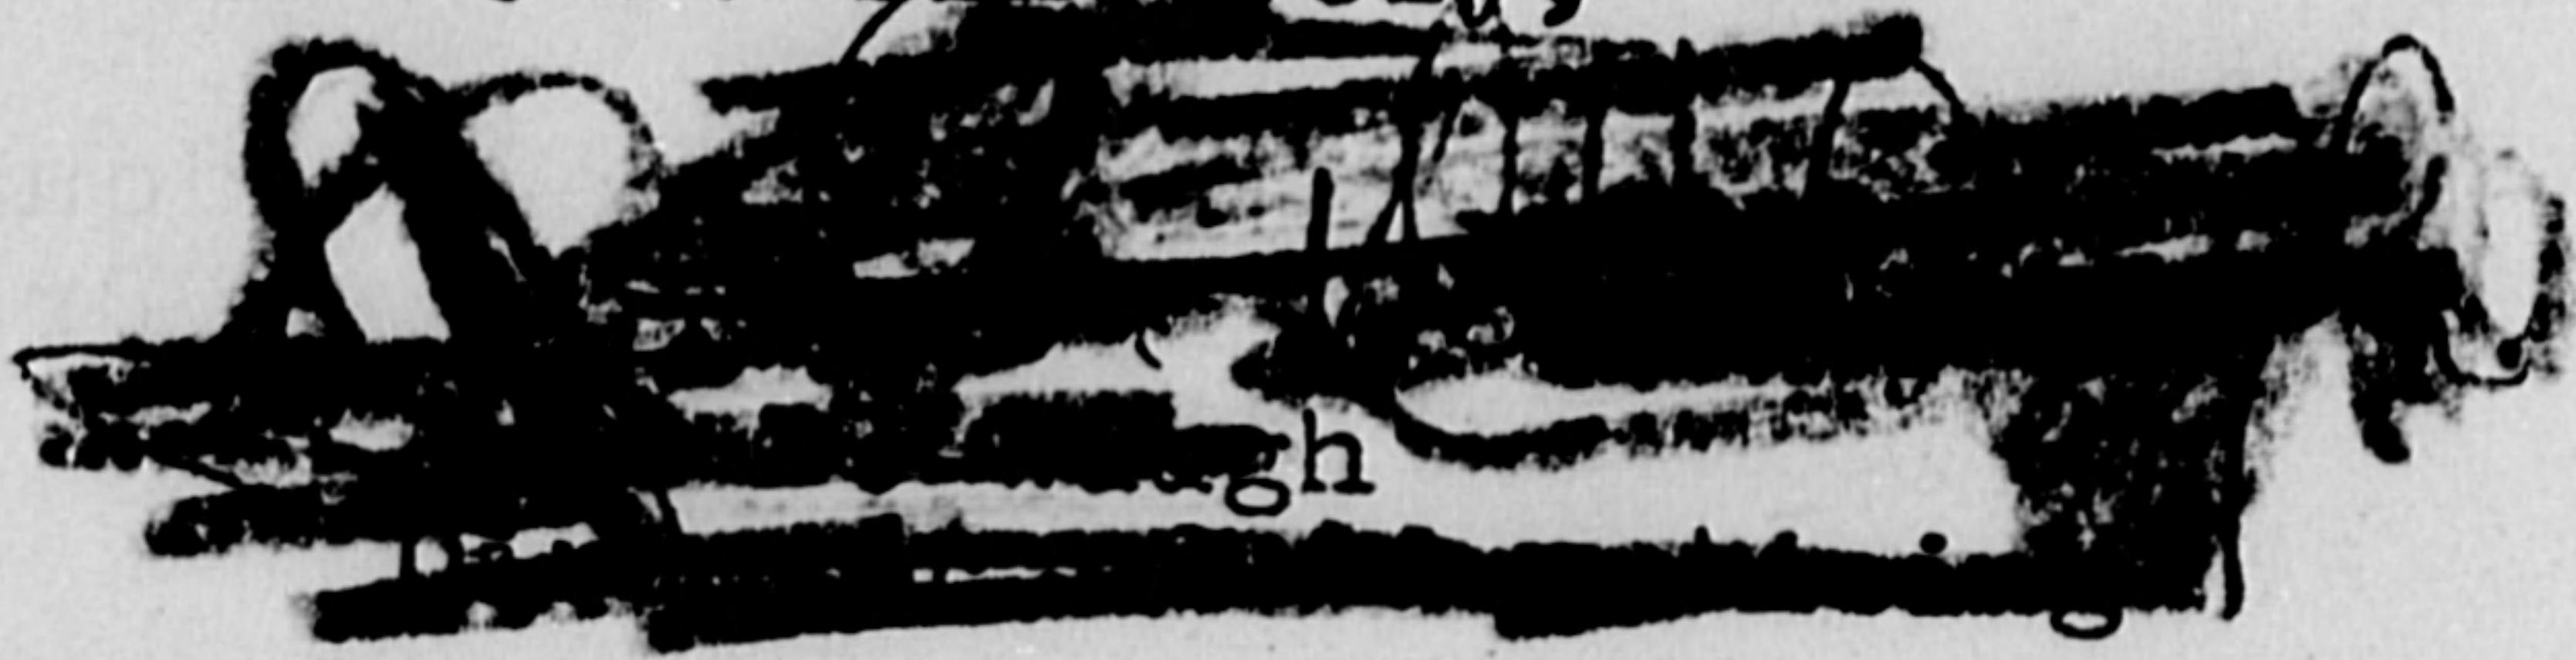

Speaking from this background, I can assure you that the aerial object was not an aircraft of any revealed type and it was not a meteor nor a comet. I have always been skeptical about these things until now and decided to write only after I talked with a radar man.

I am sure that if what we saw was a solid body, it would have appeared on Metropolitan area radar screens. The viewing was from Old Bridge, New Jersey, about 50 miles from New York City.

Yours sincerely,

Since it was nighttime I have no idea of construction. Perhaps a huge electric globe would best describe it. Round and capable of varying its brilliance. After initial brilliant glow which would give impression of great size, it would dim to dull red less than half original apparent diameter.

38. In your opinion what do you think the object was and what might have caused it?

It was not any type of presently known aircraft. It shined still - it changed brilliance & it changed color and speed. Especially the speed, it went out of the class of ordinary aircraft. I feel that it was some kind of power but electronically motivated apparatus.
It was not caused by an natural process with which I am familiar.

39. Do you think you can estimate the speed of the object? At low standing still, it moved (Circle One)  Yes  No slower than Newark or one-pound air liner passing by - perhaps 200 mph.
 Last leg of flight must have been thousands of miles m.p.h.

40. Do you think you can estimate how far away from you the object was? Apparently several (Circle One)  Yes No thousand feet above airliner.
 If you answered YES, then how far away would you say it was? 6-10,000 feet.

DATE 21 June 1954

My wife & I were sitting on our front porch steps on a hot, clear, moonless night when our attention was attracted by what appeared to be a bright star getting brighter. It was positioned, in the Northeast. After maybe 30 seconds it started to dim and then began to move to the Northwest. It turned red and then dull red, travelling slower than an airplane passing. Then, it accelerated to a tremendous speed and vanished. It was mainly the speed that convinced me that the sight was not conventional.

I later talked to a radar man who said I should report it because Fort Monmouth has radar scanning the area involved. Also, he stated that there are many unexplained radar picks-ups and it is helpful to have them confirmed visually.

If this sighting was of a UFO it should be confirmed by the records of the radar station at Monmouth or perhaps Newark airport. The light, or object, was in sight long enough to be spotted.

My farm is on a heavily travelled air lane where airliners are climbing and descending, so they are probably under radar scrutiny.

I am glad these things are being studied because if they are real and passes the apparent powers we don't have, they could be a genuine menace or a source of great knowledge.

I am unacquainted with the Air Force legend that indicates I saw a conventional performance and didn't realize it.
