Pictures taken from April I LIFE MAGAZINE BOOK

TOLD MY doctor that was working on my back what I saw in 1957 , at that time was having sleeping and was sitting in chair, house is on a low hill and object was below star leval and we have a big overhang roof as we have planes flying over our house thought it was an airpllane but thought it would hit our house it was so low, Wathing it more closley noticed it was not moving , larger than a star it sent out a sort of glow in and out ,watched for two hours fron eleven to two A.M. approximatally.
when my husband turned lights on the object with dremendous speed headed east I was facing soth have windows agross front room . Following is what I told my Husband and family I saw.

1. Introduction

The purpose of this study is to investigate the effects of various factors on the performance of a specific task. The study is designed to identify the key variables that influence performance and to determine the optimal conditions for maximizing efficiency. The research is conducted in a controlled environment to ensure the validity of the results. The data collected will be analyzed using statistical methods to draw meaningful conclusions. The findings of this study will be presented in a report that will be used to inform future research and practice. The study is organized into several sections, including a literature review, a description of the experimental design, a presentation of the results, and a discussion of the implications of the findings. The results of the study are presented in a series of tables and graphs, which illustrate the relationship between the variables and performance. The discussion section provides a detailed analysis of the results and discusses the potential reasons for the observed effects. The study concludes with a summary of the findings and a list of recommendations for future research.

2. Literature Review

The literature review provides a comprehensive overview of the existing research on the topic. It identifies the key findings of previous studies and highlights the gaps in the current knowledge. The review is organized into several sections, each focusing on a different aspect of the topic. The first section discusses the effects of physical factors on performance, such as fatigue and stress. The second section examines the role of psychological factors, such as motivation and anxiety. The third section explores the impact of environmental factors, such as noise and lighting. The fourth section discusses the effects of individual differences, such as age and experience. The review concludes with a summary of the findings and a list of recommendations for future research.

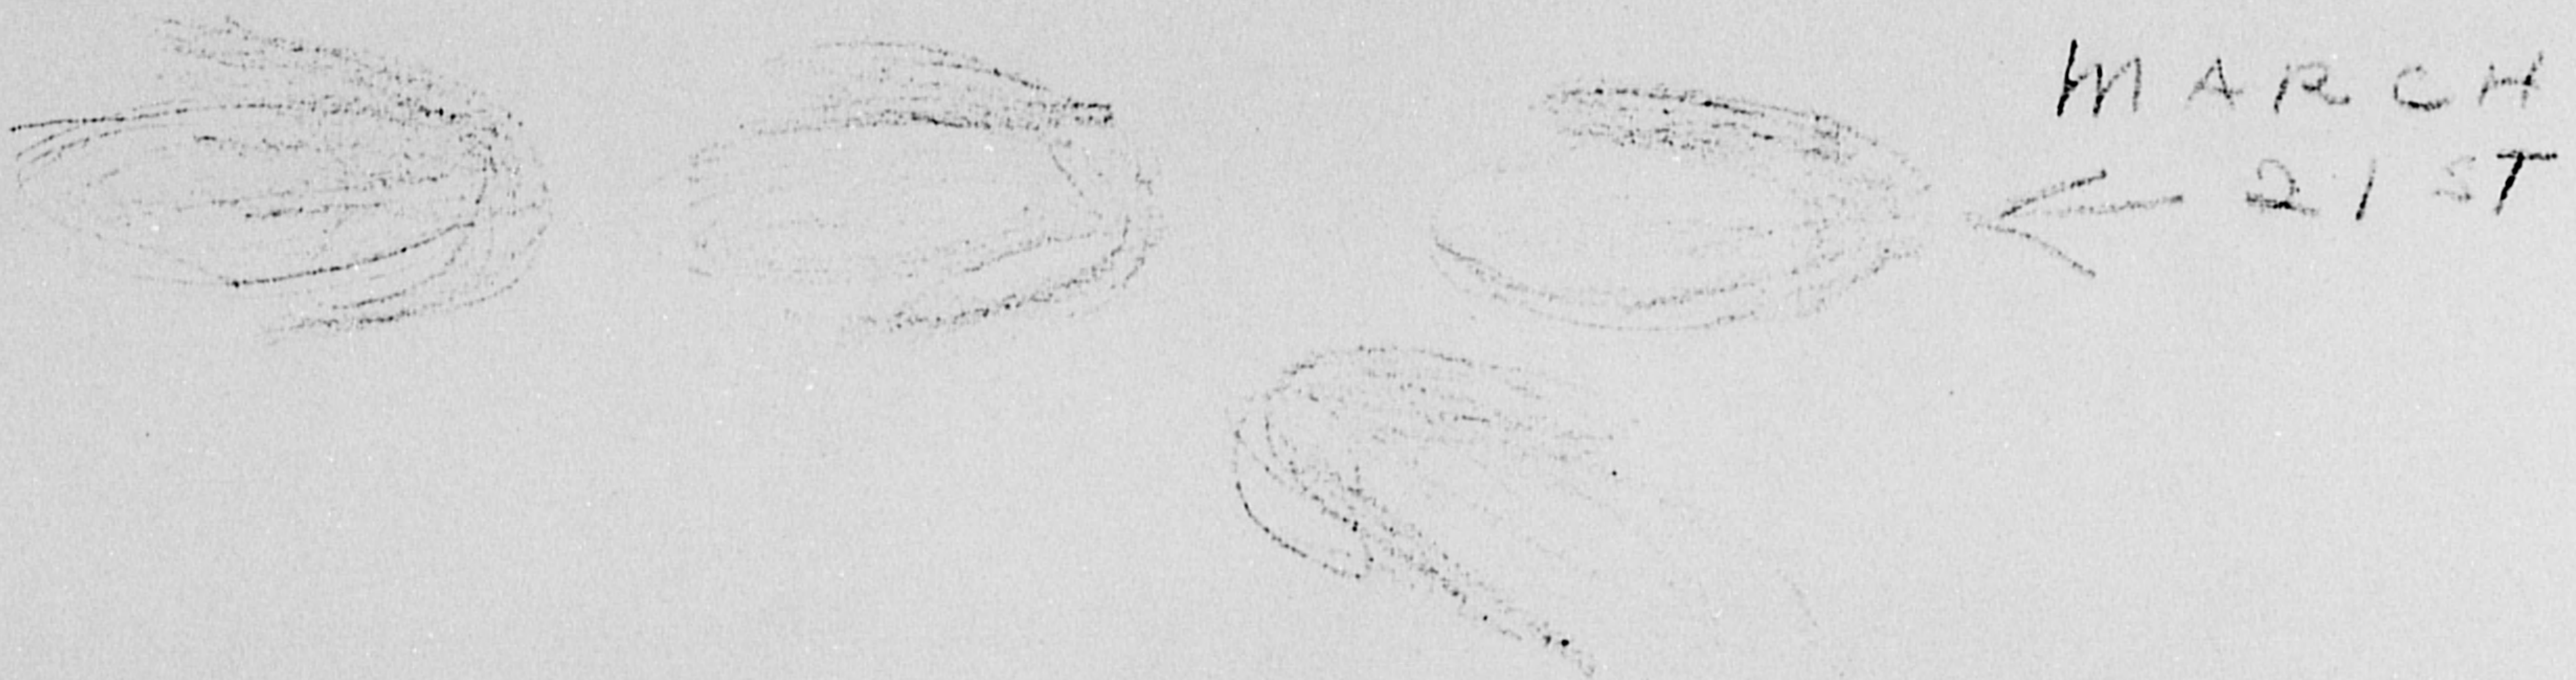

3. Experimental Design

Rported to South Bend County Sheriff March 18 following Object east of house quite a distance in the east near Goshen Ind had two parts as it traveled together going looked from here 6 to eight feet to left than to right down and when it went up---- up it had terrific speed and seemed to jerk from side to side as it shot up and out of sight.

 POLICE ON MY REPORTS
 FROM MARCH 18th to 21st

March 30 around 10 to 1:30

Two objects watched by son and 15 year old daughter. One moving and changing shapes as though it was more than one and emitting small red was above tree line in distance for about 30 minutes then came down lower than headed west. The other was out west and seemed to be in line with Bendix or airport was in that same spot till we had to go to bed too tired. this one was again different in appearance as enclosed drawing
