on I-70

I was headed for home after I had unloaded at Proctor & Gamble in Cincinnati, Ohio. I was about 5 miles from the junctions of routes 68 and I-70 when I happened to glance up into the sky and saw these objects. I looked in all directions to see what might be the cause and saw no visible, or plausible, reason for their being there. I watched them for about 1½ minutes. One object, the highest, would vary its altitude from time to time but would not go below or above the other two objects over an estimated 100 feet.

I will be in Cincinnati the week of 15 October 1966. If you like, I will call Wright-Patterson and I will be glad to discuss this matter with you.
