Dear Sirs

On Wednesday, September 25th 1968 at approximately 4:30 AM - Pacific time - I was driving south on Hi-way 101 - between Santa Barbara & Ventura, California at this time I saw what appeared to be a bright spot-like type disc to the west at an elevation of several thousand feet. The kite remained in a stationary position for several minutes and then cut south at great speed & then off into distant space leaving a trail similar to a comet of a reddish hue. When last viewed it seemed to be thousands of miles away & disappeared between the stars.

Have any other sightings of this phenomenon been reported.

Yours truly,
